

The KC Food Circle is a non profit organization that has been connecting Kansas City with Local, Organic, and Free-Range Farmers for 20 years.

We serve Eaters and Farmers in the greater Kansas City area on both sides of the state line – as well as chefs and retailers – to promote the health, environmental, and economic benefits of eating locally-grown organic and free-range foods. We also promote our Featured Organic Farmers Markets and our member farmers' CSAs.

Our 116 Member Farmers work hard to grow delicious, nourishing food, using environmentally-sound, organic methods that restore and preserve the health of the land, and who treat their animals far more humanely than industrial animal factories.

Our 200+ Eater Members enjoy the benefits of our Eat Local and Organic Dining Card which grants them a one-time 10% discount at 15 area restaurants that are sourcing from our farmers. We also offer farm-to-table events, tours, classes, and workshops for our members so they can get to know their farmer and get to know their food.

For more information about our ongoing projects visit us online and elsewhere...

www.kcfoodcircle.org

Twitter and Instagram:
@kcfoodcircle

Facebook:
KC Food Circle

